01 A LITTLE ABOUT ME

HI, I'M PAIGE

Hi, I'm Paige. I support young people and adults, either here at ESports Collective or out in the community. Most of what I know has come from years of supporting children who are Autistic or have ADHD, and what I've learned is that good support starts with patience, trust, and making someone feel genuinely safe before anything is asked of them. I'm naturally the calm one in the room, and that's not something I switch on for work. Outside of it I'm usually making something - I'm into art and craft of all sorts. I love getting to know what makes a person unique, and I reckon connection starts with feeling accepted exactly as you are.

02 MY LIVED EXPERIENCE

Motherhood has shaped so much of who I am. Watching my own child go through social struggles showed me how hard it can be for a young person to find confidence and a sense of belonging, and how much it matters to move at a pace that feels safe for them. Taking things slowly, removing the pressure, and building trust over time made a huge difference for my child, and it's something I carry into how I support others.

03 WHY I'M HERE

I want the people I support, young people and adults both, to know they don't have to pretend to be someone they're not, or jump in before they feel ready. Sometimes one patient, non-judgemental person beside you is what makes all the difference. I love connecting over a shared interest - for a lot of people that's an easier way in than conversation.
